Hydroxide Water Perfected!

Many consumers are familiar with the term "alkaline water" and view it as beneficial bottled water or electrolysis generated water. Most alkaline waters contain some hydroxide in them as a result of their production techniques, along with other substances such as alkaline minerals. Hydroxide and minerals are the two factors most responsible for the high pH and alkalinity measurements of alkaline water products. What sets Healthy OH apart from the others is a focus entirely on the hydroxide component as the most effective active ingredient in alkaline water. Alkalizing is not the same as removing acidity.

To make Healthy OH, we boost the hydroxide and remove the minerals. The result is a purified quart of concentrate that can be used to make 8 gallons of ready to drink alkaline water that has far superior benefits and cost effectiveness to the other leading alkaline water products.
